15. Abstract

Field tests have been carried out on gas lines under the service conditions when the plant was in operation. The testing procedure involved monitoring of acoustic emissions at six specified locations on the transfer main. The technique involved in the testing and the observations made during the tests are presented in this report.

NATIONAL AERONAUTICAL LABORATORY
BANGALORE, INDIA